

Two Voices. One Concert.

Annett Kuhr & Sue Sheehan

On the very same day that Annett Kuhr and Sue Sheehan first met, in January of 2019, they resolved to set out on a musical journey together.

Annett Kuhr The multiple award-winning songsmith and singer from South Germany enjoys a nationwide reputation among connoisseurs of the genre. The quality of her finely-honed lyrics bear witness to a deep love of language, conjuring rich imagery in the listener. Melodious guitar accompaniments and the warmth of her voice meld into a rare, rich unity.

Sue Sheehan, born in the USA, is long settled in Coppenbrügge, Lower Saxony. Her music draws on rich performance experience with many and various ensembles in diverse genres – medieval, jazz/swing, Irish folk, classical choirs, brass band and more – and her instruments reflect this: flugelhorn and trumpet, bodhrán and bouzouki. Infused by a fundamental musicality, inspired and inspiring, her songs tell of wide-open spaces and yearning.

Together they weave a spell that winds through ever-changing musical landscapes and spaces: two soloists in powerful synergy, two charismatic song poets conjuring an ardency, intensity and fire whose embers glow long after the final encore.

Sue Sheehan: vocals, trumpet, flugelhorn, bouzouki, bodhrán,
Annett Kuhr: vocals, guitar
